I've mastered and can use content knowledge (reading, math, science, etc.) in real-world situations.

I can make presentations to express myself and receive feedback constructively.

I can cooperate with others to solve problems together and learn from my peers.

I apply reasoning and creativity to analyze evidence and solve complex problems.

I know if I work with others, persist and get support, I'll succeed.

I can set goals, track my process and ask for help when I need it.
